David Singer is a principal of Porzio, Bromberg & Newman, P.C. and is a member of the firm's Environmental Practice Group. His practice focuses on environmental transactions, litigation and compliance matters, the sale and purchase of commercial real estate, land use, and general civil litigation.

David has spent most of his life in New Jersey, including attending Cook College, Rutgers University for his undergraduate degree. While at Rutgers University, he was an active leader in his community by serving as Chair of the Student Affairs Committee of the Rutgers University Senate and accompanying the President of Rutgers University to Washington, D.C., to lobby for increased student aid.

David, who was inducted as a Loyal Son of Rutgers in 2013, continues his active involvement with Rutgers University by serving in various leadership roles, including as a Board member and past-President of the Cook Community Alumni Association and Board member of the Rutgers Alumni Association. David also assists students through Rutgers Student Legal Services.

While attending Vermont Law School, the nation's top institution for environmental law, David was a member and Co-Chair of the Vermont Law School ABA Negotiations competition board, a member of the Environmental Moot Court Board, and a Dean's Fellow. He clerked for both the United States Attorney's Office for the Western District of Virginia and the United States Environmental Protection Agency, Region III.
